U. S. PLANES MAKE ANOTHER LONG LAP ON WORLD TRIP

YETOROFU ISLAND, KURILES, May 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The three army air planes flying around the world landed here today having made the 500 miles flight from Parashira Island in a little over seven hours.

The landing was made on Lake Toshima Bay. This is in the rear of Hitokapu Bay, an indentation of the south-east shore of this island. A landing place on the lake was prepared by Japanese and American sailors from the destroyer Pope and Amatsukaze several days ago when it was determined that Hitokapu Bay was too rough for the planes to be brought down safely on its waters.

U. S. Flyers To Push On
TOKIO, May 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The flight of the American round-the-world aviators from Parashira Bay to Lake Toshima Bay, was made under ideal conditions, said dispatches received here from the American destroyer Pope and the Japanese destroyer Amatsukaze. The navy department issued an official announcement on the flyers' arrival on Yetorofu Island. The flyers will be received in audience by the Prince Regent soon. (Continued on Page Eleven)

President Able To Return To Office

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 18.—(By the Associated Press)—Having sustained the bronchial cold, from which he had suffered since the middle of last week, President Coolidge today returned to his office.

The executive's physicians, however, said he still was feeling some of the usual after-effects of a cold such as a slight weakness and engagements to attend a baseball game between the Washington Americans and the Quantico Marines for the benefit of the American Olympic fund and to receive several hundred delegates from the annual convention in Baltimore of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, were cancelled.

METHODISTS VOTE TO ELECT THREE NEW BISHOPS

SPRINGFIELD, MASS., May 18.—(By the Associated Press)—The Methodist Episcopal General Conference voted today to elect three new bishops instead of five. The vote was 436 for, to 376 against.

It was decided to take the first ballot immediately after the mid-morning recess.

Last Saturday the delegates voted to elect five bishops. The Rev. Ray Allen, of Rochester, N. Y., made the motion to reconsider and upon its adoption by 432 votes to 367 he proposed an amendment to the original report of the committee on the episcopacy, substituting three bishops for five.

Action on the Methodist church's attitude toward war was postponed by the Methodist Episcopal General Conference today. Dissatisfied with the recommendations of a standing committee, the delegates voted for the appointment of a special committee to frame a new proposal and report it by next Friday.

The lifting of restrictions in the Methodist Church laws against amusements, excluding only "diversions which cannot be taken in the name of the Lord Jesus" were recommended by a standing committee of the Methodist Episcopal General Conference today.

Women Held Peace Parade

CLEVELAND, O., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Despite threatening skies and organized opposition to their program, the women's peace parade, sponsored by the women's council of the city of Cleveland, went through as scheduled yesterday with more than 3,500 women marching, according to police estimates. Heavy rain early in the day and showers just before the assembling of the marchers and a week's controversy through the opposition to the parade by the chamber of commerce and the American Legion, kept the number of marchers down it was said. Supreme Court Judge Florence E. Allen led the officers of the women's council, of which she is honorary chairman.

"Village Smithy" of Poetical Fame To Disappear

LONDON, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The village smithy which is reputed to have inspired Longfellow's famous verses, is doomed to disappear. It stands in St. Mary Cray, a Kentish village and became known to the American poet when he visited the poetess Eliza Cook.

The appearance of the smithy at present hardly meets the description in the poem. "The spreading chestnut tree" vanished long ago, being felled because it darkened the neighboring houses and the building now is to go for an equally utilitarian purpose. Its site is wanted in furtherance of a street widening plan.

Yank Jockey Forces Pride Of France To Defeat

PARIS, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Sir Gallahad III, winner of the Lincolnshire handicap, defeated Epinaud, crack French four-year-old in their match race at St. Cloud today.

Sir Gallahad, ridden by Frank O'Neill, the American jockey, won by a short neck from his rival on which Everett Haynes, also an American, had the mount.

Brains, Not Horse Flesh, Won
Brains and not horse flesh won the race in the opinion of experts, who claimed that the jockeys constituted the supreme factor.

When Sir Gallahad nosed out Epinaud, it was Jockey O'Neill, of St. Louis, who was the victor, triumphing over Jockey Haynes, of Oklahoma. Haynes, who only recently left the American hospital at Neuilly, where he had been confined by serious illness, could not cope with O'Neill who was fresh from his victories in the Lincolnshire stakes and the Kempton Park Jubilee handicap.

In a heart-breaking finish, O'Neill won while Sir Gallahad literally shoved Sir Gallahad's nose in front of Epinaud, while Haynes, sitting still on the pride of the French turf, was riding none too vigorously before the astounded multitude which had come to see Sir Gallahad presented as an offering to the Gods of racing.

Epinaud was the overwhelming favorite at 1 to 3. The winner paid little better than 2 to 1 to 12.

French Got a Real Thrill
Captain J. D. Cohen's entry was as unruly as usual at the post and spoiled three starts, finally getting away with Epinaud trailing helplessly behind.

Pierre Wertheimer's horse was two lengths behind at the furlong post but moved up before reaching the half mile. Both horses were head and head at four furlongs. Epinaud's smooth and easy action caused the crowd to roar, "Finland wine."

Racing as a team both horses entered the stretch, Epinaud slowly forging ahead until a hundred yards from the finish, with O'Neill a length behind, giving the impression of riding a defaulted horse.

Suddenly the breathless multitude of 50,000, the largest crowd ever attending races at St. Cloud, with the exception of Easter Sunday, shuddered as the premier jockey of France dug his spurs into Captain Cohen's horse and began whipping the faltering Sir Gallahad. Haines was taken by surprise. In short strides the son of Eddie forced by inches ahead of Epinaud, whose tremendous leaps were unable to cope with the unbeatable spirit and driving power sitting astride Sir Gallahad.

3 Missing After Blast In Volcano

HONOLULU, May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Three persons are unaccounted for following a violent explosion in the crater of Kilauea volcano on the island of Hawaii, said dispatches reaching here last night from Hilo, on that island. They are Miss Molly U. Thomas, a district nurse of the board of health and two soldiers whose names were not given.

The explosion was the most violent of the current period of activity in the volcano. The three were seen at the edge of the great pit of the crater immediately before the explosion. A searching party was sent out in an effort to locate the bodies.

Truman H. Taylor, a bookkeeper of Hilo, was struck by a rock thrown out from the volcano immediately after the explosion and both legs were crushed. He also was burned severely by hot ashes. Taylor's cries were heard by another sight-seer who went to his assistance.

Violent explosions with eruptions of rocks and sand and ashes continue unabated. There were seven Saturday night and three notable ones Sunday morning, besides numerous lesser disturbances. Each large detonation is followed by a shower of large rocks, some of the missiles being hurled three-quarters of a mile. The rock which injured Taylor fell one hundred feet from the crater. A rain of ash and mud followed the rock shower. The rainfall was tremendous, accompanied by brilliant plays of lightning and violent thunder.

McAdoo Forces Base Campaign On Claim That Democrats Need Liberal and Progressive Man

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
NEW YORK, May 19.—William Gibbs McAdoo has come to town at last, the psychological moment.

Arrangements are being made among Democratic leaders which may influence the whole trend of events at the Democratic National convention six weeks hence.

Mr. McAdoo and his associates are confident of the outcome. They neither look doubtful nor talk that way. Arrangements are being made for the convention itself—that is what has brought several national committeemen here—but the undercurrent of conversation is not who shall be temporary or permanent chairman or what the strategy of the convention will be.

The McAdoo men are sure of more than 400 votes on the first ballot. They say they have more votes in store on subsequent ballots. If they get a majority, they believe the whole convention will swing toward them and furnish the necessary two thirds.

On what is all this confidence based? You can't talk five minutes with any of the McAdoo men before learning that they are absolutely sure.

Girl Blown Into River; Escapes

CHICAGO, O., May 18.—(By the Associated Press)—A strong gale blowing along the river from Columbus, blew the clothing of Viola Wilkins, 18, into a virtual sail that carried her from a coal scow, and into the Muncie River.

The girl who was sinking for the second time was rescued from drowning by two men who pulled her out of the water with a pike pole.

REPUBLICANS MAY BACK DOWN ON PLAN TO ENDORSE SLATE

COLUMBUS, O., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—As the time shortens for the convening of the public pre-primary convention here Tuesday to "consider the advisability" of endorsing a slate of candidates for the August primary election, doubt increases as to whether endorsements will be made. It is the general belief here among party members that an endorsement will be attempted in view of the publicly expressed opposition of candidates against such action.

To the list of gubernatorial candidates who have expressed opposition to the making of endorsements has been added Congressman John C. Cole, a Lima, who in formally announcing his candidacy in Washington last night, urged adoption of a plank by the "regular" convention in June against "slate making" by such a gathering.

Should the convention not endorse candidates, there will be very little left for it to do, he believed. There is believed to be a possibility of the convention at least going on record against the primary, but holding that it should be abolished legally. Many leaders who have opposed the pre-primary convention without legal status, have urged abolition of the primary election and return to the old legalized convention system.

Boyhood Chums Drown Together

NEW HAVEN, CONN., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Chums since boyhood, schoolmates, then college classmates, happy in the enjoyment of the same diversions and out for a Sunday canoe trip, Harlan C. Franklin and Hayner A. Bonillon, Yale juniors, of Torrington, Conn., who met death together yesterday, in the Housatonic River at Derby, were regarded as almost inseparable companions, according to college mates. The two students occupied the same canoe and went to the rescue of Walter Janetzky and Stanley Flood, two Ansonia youths, who had been upset while canoeing and were struggling in the water. The students drowned while the pair tried to rescue, reached shore in safety.

Phones On Increase

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The number of telephones used in the United States increased from 11,716,520 on December 31, 1917, to 14,347,395 on the same date in 1922. Statistics made public today by the department of commerce also disclosed that the rate of increase was 22.4 per cent, while the population was increasing at a rate of about seven per cent. Florida with 62.5 per cent established the highest rate of increase for a single state.

MEASURE NOW AUTOMATICALLY GOES INTO EFFECT

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—The senate overrode President Coolidge's veto of the soldier bonus bill. The measure now automatically becomes law, the house having taken similar action. The vote was 59 to 26 to override the veto.

Seventy Republican organization leaders joined with a strong Democratic lineup in upsetting the veto on a vote which was in doubt until the last minute.

Two More Than Necessary
This was two more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

President Coolidge himself made an eleven hour effort to stem the tide of support for the bill, but was unsuccessful in convincing the senate to sustain the president.

Both Ohio senators, Fess and Willis voted to override the veto.

The senate voted virtually without debate. An almost absolute silence prevailed during the roll call and as the vote was announced cheering broke out in the crowded galleries.

President Coolidge ordered the sergeant-at-arms "to clear the gallery," but as he added "if the disturbance continues" the Democrats arose and applauded loudly.

The house on Saturday night by a margin of 313 to 175, overrode the veto, 313 to 78, the house putting definitely up the senate for the second time the final word on the legislation. In 1922 the house overrode President Harding's veto of a soldiers' bonus bill by a vote of 268 to 54, but the senate failed to override the veto.

The bill provides for 20 year endowment insurance policies and for cash payments to veterans not entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service credits.

What Bill Provides
As re-passed by the senate the bill automatically becomes a law. It provides for rapid-up twenty-year endowment insurance policies for veterans and cash payments to those first entitled to more than $50 in adjusted service credits.

Adjusted service credit, which would be the basis also of the valuation of the insurance policies, would be figured at $1 a day for home service and $1.25 a day for overseas service. The maximum is fixed at 500 days.

All veterans up to and including the rank of captain in the army and marine corps and lieutenant in the navy would be entitled to the benefits of the bill.

The insurance certificates would be dated next January while the cash payments would be nine months after enactment of the bill.

The senate upheld President Harding's veto of the soldier bonus bill in 1922 by a vote of 44 to 28, four less than the required two-thirds majority. Twenty-four of the senators who then voted against the bill or were paired against it, are present in congress now.

The present bill passed the senate recently by a vote of 67 to 17. The veto of President Coolidge was overridden by the house Saturday 313 to 78 or 62 votes more than the required majority.

FAIRBURY, NEB., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Dr. H. E. Potter, of Fairbury, the lone delegate pledged to support William W. Johnson elected in the recent presidential preference primary in Nebraska, has been "released" by Senator Johnson in a letter relieving him of any promised support he has announced. The remainder of the Nebraska Republican delegation was won by President Coolidge.

NORTH HOTEL TO BE BUILT AT THIRD AND CHILlicothe ST.

Definite Action On Site Taken at Meeting Held Monday Morning

The new 100 room, eight story North hotel will be built upon its original site, Third and Chillicothe streets.

Definite action was taken Monday morning when the stockholders met in the morning room of the Secord building. It was not until 10:30 a. m. that a majority favored the site now considered at Second and Chillicothe streets now occupied by the Turkey building.

When Russell Anderson made a motion to have the hotel go up at Third and Chillicothe streets it was promptly seconded and a majority of the stockholders present voted in favor of it.

It was stated after the meeting that Contractors Taylor and Linn will resume work on the hotel right away as part of their equipment is already assembled at Third and Chillicothe streets.

The stockholders will meet again Tuesday to promulgate the resumption of work, fill several vacancies in the Directorate and to appoint a chairman to succeed Albert Martineau, who, owing to a press of business affairs, found it impossible to continue in his present capacity. The 60 day option on the Turkey building expires Wednesday, May 21.

McAdoo

convinced that the dragging in of McAdoo's name in the oil controversy has been a boomerang that is the kind of thing which Republicans will think harmful, but which the Democratic party will not. For, in the first place, Mr. McAdoo feels he has done nothing wrong, that nobody has accused him of any legal wrongdoing and that his activity as a lawyer after he left the Federal Department is no different from the activity of Charles Evans Hughes after he left the Supreme Court of the United States. Mr. Hughes, it is pointed out, argued before his former associates and was highly paid for his services.

But the McAdoo men say the oil discussion is "old stuff" and that the people in several state primaries have passed on it and given McAdoo their support.

Far more significant at the moment is the course that the McAdoo men are taking in mapping out their campaign for the nomination which is the first hurdle to be crossed. The McAdoo men point to the statement by Senator LaFollette that he would run independently if both parties name a conservative. The inference which the McAdoo strategists draw from this is that he may not run if a radical or liberal Democrat is nominated. Any way, the whole basis of the McAdoo campaign is that there must be a difference between the two candidates and the parties in the forthcoming contest, that the West and South can be counted upon to support a liberal and progressive while the East will naturally vote to a large extent for a conservative.

Former Secretary McAdoo's speeches in the West are exactly in line with that doctrine. While he himself would probably say that to describe his doctrines as radical is erroneous, because he thinks a radical is essentially an extremist, nevertheless the utterances are not in the least conservative. For instance, he has been advocating the repeal of the much mooted section 15-A of the Transportation act which limits the earnings of the railroads, he has been favoring the repeal of the labor clauses so that the present Labor board may be abolished. He has also been talking in favor of a cash bonus while the present soldier insurance bill does not appropriate money for that immediate purpose.

As for foreign affairs, the man whose great liability in 1920 was his kinship with the late Woodrow Wilson is today finding it his biggest asset. Mr. McAdoo has been careful not to come out in favor of any particular formula of cooperation between nations but says he would call an international conference if elected. In such a conference, of course, he disavows all formulas, and it goes without saying that Mr. McAdoo is not hostile to an amended and revised covenant of the League of Nations. The Democratic national platform will chart the course of the coming on that subject. For the issue as between candidates for the nomination itself. The Wilson following in the party is for the most part behind McAdoo though he has recruited some of the old unit-

The Democratic national platform will chart the course of the coming on that subject. For the issue as between candidates for the nomination itself. The Wilson following in the party is for the most part behind McAdoo though he has recruited some of the old unit-

Wilson men too. Another thing on which McAdoo cohorts are not silent is prohibition. They point to him as the only "dry" progressive candidate. This seems of course, a challenge to Governor Al Smith. Whether the McAdoo men can make of Al Smith a conservative by declaring Tammany is far from progressive remains to be seen. But the fight appears to be developing largely between the McAdoo and Smith forces, with all sorts of rumors floating around just now that at the psychological moment both the Underwood and Cox strength will be thrown to Smith rather than McAdoo in order to head off the latter's nomination. The pre-convention efforts to persuade influential men behind the scenes to cast their support into the camp of William Gibbs McAdoo is becoming intensified. There was a time when the skeptics thought him eliminated on account of the oil mix up. He has now carried several primaries and has come here to ask the doubtful ones what they think about that and to persuade them to climb into his band wagon.

MINFORD POSTOFFICE ROBBED

Burglars entered the postoffice at Minford sometime Sunday or Monday morning and made a getaway with from $40 to $50 in small change, according to Postmaster Arthur Conkel, who discovered the robbery this morning on opening his barbershop, which is located in the same building occupied by the postoffice.

An investigation disclosed that the intruders gained entrance through a window and ransacked the place, rifling the cash drawer of its contents, but overlooking a package of stamps, and other valuables. Letters and other mail were strewn everywhere.

Postmaster Conkel later notified the city of the robbery, and he in turn notified the U. S. authorities at Cincinnati and postoffice inspectors, no doubt will be sent here to conduct an investigation of the burglary.

Walnut Street Man Has Saved Large Sum of Money

Thomas Fitzgerald, of 2916 Walnut street, who is employed in the Air Dept. of the N. & W. Railroad Shops, in speaking recently of Peppen, the new medical discovery, has been introduced by Fisher & Streich's Pharmacy, is part said: "Peppen is I know the greatest medicine of its kind on the market. Three bottles of this medicine have done me more good than I got out of hundreds of dollars spent on other remedies."

"For some years," continued Mr. Fitzgerald, "I was troubled with kidney and stomach trouble. At night I could never get a full night's sleep. I would have to get up three and four times every night. In the mornings when I got up, I would have a pain right across the small of my back. My head would often ache and I would feel worn out and good for nothing."

"During the past few weeks I had no desire to eat. Everything tasted just alike. Then when I would eat a little meat, it would make me feel as if I would form in my stomach and get me all bloated up."

"I had heard of so many Portsmouth people who had been relieved by Peppen that I began taking it. I had not been taking Peppen more than three days when I noticed an improvement. Now after about a month's use of Peppen I feel like a different man. Every night I sleep with a clear head. My appetite is fine and the food I eat agrees with me. I can recommend Peppen to anyone who needs a good medicine, and I am doing it too."

CAUTION: The genuine Peppen is packed in a white and blue cartons and may be obtained in Portsmouth only at Fisher & Streich's Pharmacy, where J. E. Young, the Peppen Specialist, is daily meeting large numbers of Portsmouth people who are taking his medicine.

"But he does not know—he does not know!" was the bitter cry of her heart. "Oh, David, David!"

CHAPTER XIV

When Monty Fisher reached home that night, he found Dora waiting up for him.

She was half asleep on the drawing-room couch when he opened the door, and he stood for a moment in the doorway looking down at her with tender admiration.

What a perfect mistress she would make for the Red Grange! Jealousy for her sake filled his heart as he recalled his conversation with David that evening, and the dangerously quiet way in which he had championed Mary's cause.

He had thought the whole matter carefully over since coming up in the train, and looked at from every point of view he could only see one explanation of it all.

David was in love with Mary.

Comparing the two women—his sister and that other—it seemed almost absurd that any man could prefer the quiet, almost subdued charm of the one, against the blazing beauty of this woman lying all asleep in the shaded light of the room.

He went across the room softly and, bending, laid a hand on her shoulder.

"Dora!"

She started up with a little stifled exclamation.

Monty! At last! I thought you were never coming. I've been waiting for you. Well—she looked up at him with a sort of quivering smile in her pretty eyes—well, did you see David and the wonderful sister-in-law?

"Yes."

She seemed not to notice the curtness of his reply; she rose to her feet, pushing back the ruffled waves of her golden hair.

"A very extraordinary thing happened this afternoon," she said.

There was a suppressed excitement in her voice; she did not look at him as she spoke.

"I went to the mantelpiece and took a folded paper that looked like a telegram from behind a photograph album; she unfolded it and handed it to her brother."

"This came this afternoon; it is for me, but I opened it, as I thought it might be important. What does it say?"

Fisher took the paper; it was the copy of a cablegram from a town in Argentina.

"Please ask David Bretherton cable to two hundred pounds. Letter extending follows.—Dolly Durnham."

He read it through with a mystified face.

"Who in the world is Dolly Durnham?" he asked blankly.

Dora shook her head; her eyes were very bright and excited.

"I don't know at all; your new clerk, Mr. Evans, brought it down from the office as you were not there. He thought it might be important, he said, 'Monty, are you sure you don't know who she is?"

"My dear child, what a question! I've never heard of anyone of that name in all my life. There is some mistake of course."

"You mean that you think it is someone David knows—someone he perhaps met when he was abroad?"

There was a sharp note of inquiry in her voice.

"My dear child, David is the last man in the world to give any woman the right to demand money from him like this. Why are you looking at me like that?"

"Because," said Dora deliberately, "Mr. Evans knows who she is if you don't."

Fisher stared at her blankly.

"Evans! What on earth are you driving at?"

She shrugged her shoulders.

"I know! I could see by his face that he knew. I asked him, but he would tell me nothing—he will tell you."

"I'm sure you are mistaken. How could he know? He has only been in the office a few weeks, and he knows nothing of David's affairs."

But Dora was obstinate.

"His reasons about this, I saw in his face; it was impossible not to have seen."

"You are imagining it."

"I believe you know more about it than you will tell me. I hate being treated like a child. If this woman is anything to David—"

"I—OH! DAVID HAD LIFTED HER HAND TO HIS LIPS."

"This was a suggestion of angry tears in her voice."

"Dora, I give you my word of honor that I have never heard of the woman, and I don't believe that David has either."

She laughed scornfully.

"Your word of honor! I wouldn't give a fig for any man's word of honor."

She walked out of the room, slamming the door behind her.

CHAPTER XLVI

Gone!

Monty was relieved; he had dreaded being bombarded with questions as to what had happened down at the Red Grange. This sudden strange incident had given him a little respite at least. He sat down with the cablegram still in his hand.

"Dolly Durnham! The name sounded to him of the music-hall. He wondered if, after all, Dora were right, and this woman were someone whom David had met in his travels."

But it was useless to speculate; he put the paper carefully away, and went to bed.

But sleep did not come. He lay awake wondering what was the meaning of it all—and what David intended doing about Mary Furrival.

Would Mary marry David if he asked her? And did he mean to ask her? He could find no solution to the riddle.

David had acted so differently from what one would have expected of him; there was a personal sorrow in Fisher's heart. Was this woman to be allowed to come between their friendship?

He tried to keep the conversation away from the Red Grange during breakfast the next morning, but Dora was insistent.

She asked a hundred questions about David. She asked how Mary had looked, and how she had behaved.

Fisher answered them all awkwardly; he was sure to spare her until he was sure of the truth; and yet he wanted her to know of his suspicions.

He said that Mary had had very little to say.

"She was always a quiet, retiring sort of woman," he added, rather lamely.

Dora laughed.

"Yes, I know the kind; nothing to say when there is anyone in the room, but when she is alone with David, she makes up to him for all she is worth."

"Dora! She couldn't 'make-up' to anyone, as you call it, to save her life."

"Oh, couldn't she! That's all you know! Those quiet, good-looking sort of women are always the worst. Well, what did you do? Why don't you tell me?"—impatiently.

"We didn't do anything. I was there such a short time. David drove me to the station in the evening."

"Alone?"

"No, Mary came, too."

Dora sneered.

"She would! She knew it meant a drive back alone with him."

Fisher made no answer. His sister pushed her plate angrily away; passionate tears stung her eyes.

"I hate her! She's trying to take my place."

"She could never take your place; you are so utterly different."

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, fashion, news, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—When I rode home from work on a street car the other evening I had to take a seat alongside of a strange gentleman. After I had been seated a short time he placed his arm on the back of the seat, much to my embarrassment. What would have been the proper thing for me to have said?

IN DOUBT—
You could have gotten up and taken another seat without saying anything. If there were no vacant seats, you could have stood up, or sat on the edge of the seat. Of course if you had a hat-pin or any other weapon handy you could have reached back and given him a jab with it. Men like that need something to give them a jolt occasionally.

Dear Dolly—I wonder if you could tell me that little verse about the cats of Kilkenny? It's something about two cats being killed, but I can't think just how it runs?

MRS. N. Y. Z.
There were two cats in Kilkenny. Who caught thought there was one cat too many. So they howled and they bit, and they scratched and they bit. Until instead of two cats, there wasn't any.

Dear Dolly—I am a married man and have trouble with nobody. I take care of my wife and children, and I don't care for any woman and my wife doesn't care for any other man. But Dolly, there is a married woman living in our neighborhood who has a husband and children and yet she gets drunk regularly. She will drink anything that smells like whisky. She curses me and tells me I sell whisky. I never did, nor never will sell whisky. Her son has been begging for over a year and now she takes her spite out on me because her husband asked me if I ever saw her with another man. I told him the truth. Don't you think she ought to stay at home and look after her husband and children and not knock anybody until she finds out the truth?

RESPECTABLE CITIZEN—
And yet you say that you have trouble with nobody? I never could understand why peaceful, law-abiding citizens have to put up with people like you mentioned. I should think you could go your way and they go theirs without troubling each other. If you have to live in their neighborhood, don't pay any attention to them, and if you don't have to live there, get out and move into a more respectable neighborhood.

Dear Dolly—To settle an argument, please tell me if the Yosemite Valley is in Colorado or Montana?

SIXTH STREET READER—
The Yosemite Valley is in California.

Dear Dolly—I am 15 years of age and live in the country. I have a boy friend whom I like very much, and he says he likes me. Dolly, I have been going with this boy ever since I was 11 years of age. He lives about 2 miles from where I live, but I don't get to see him very often. I have another friend who lives close to where I live and he wants to go with me. I like them both, but I don't know which one I want. One of them is 15 and the other one is 16. Dolly, please tell me which one I want. Dolly, am I too young to go with the boys? My parents don't care for me to go with them.

BROWN EYES—
If your parents approve of the way you are carrying on, there is no use asking me for advice. However, I will say that you are too young to go with the boys and your parents should be assured of themselves for telling you out-of-the-way years.

Dear Dolly—While working in an eating house, which was none too clean, I acquired a disease in my head, and I want you to tell me how to get rid of it? I am also losing my hair, which used to be very thick and naturally curly. I am very much worried and I want you to tell me what will make my hair grow thick again. Have you ever known naturally curly hair to turn straight? I will be very much worried until I hear from you?

BLUE EYES—
I don't imagine your work had anything to do with your scalp disease. However, I would advise you to consult a physician and see what he can do for you. It might be a good idea to have your hair cut and in this way you could treat your scalp better. If you don't care for hatted hair, you could curl it and then put a net over it.

Even the monarchs of old were attired in "purple and fine linen" and I can well understand their choice of the latter material since I have seen how beautifully it is used in this season's styles. And in such a range of shades, too, orchid and blue for blondes, and the loveliest shades of peach, and salmon and rose for the darker brunette. And always, white, for all of us. It is so very smart this year. White hats are good, too. I found a whole rack full of these linen frocks at the Fashion, marked only $7.98. And white hats, faced with crepe de chine and adorned with white velvet flowers were $5.98.

Cuts two operations from your washing no rubbing-no bluing

It is—the greatest little aid to washing that ever was invented! Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of La France with your soap when you put the clothes to soak or boil, and half the work is done. No back-breaking rubbing. No bluing.

With La France, you just soak or boil the clothes, then rinse and wring, and your work is over. La France blues as it cleans. And how it does clean! You'll say it's magic—the clothes are so snowy white and sweet.

Use La France with any soap you like—bar, powder or flakes. Or use it in the washing machine. All the sticky, greasy dirt is washed away twice as quick when La France, too, is used. Ask your grocer for it. It costs a package.

Ask him also for Satina. Add it to the hot starch. Prevents the iron from sticking, and gives a soft glossy finish. It also imparts a delightful fragrance to the clothes. La France Manufacturing Company, Philadelphia.

Only 1/2 cents each wash-day for this wonderful product that does away with all the drudgery of washing. For boilers, tubs or washing machine.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

MRS. CRACKNUTS HAS GOOD LUCK

The Twins started out to deliver the things.

One day Mrs. Cracknuts telephoned to the store for some groceries. "I want two cents worth of soap," she said, "one cent worth of tea, and five cents worth of butter, and a loaf of bread, and a pint of maple syrup."

"I'm sorry," said Nancy, who had answered the telephone for Mrs. Cracknuts, "but we haven't a drop of maple syrup left."

"Oh, dear!" cried Mrs. Cracknuts. "I'm sorry about that. I just look a notion I wanted some last night and I thought I couldn't wait for the store to open this morning. I sez to Daddy, I sez, Daddy, the minute Mister Bags' store is open tomorrow, I'm going to telephone for some maple syrup. It seems to me I can smell it. I want it so much!"

"I'm over so sorry, Mrs. Cracknuts," said Nancy. "Is there anything else?" "So, I guess not," said the squirrel lady in a disappointed voice.

"All right," said Nancy. "Thank you, Mrs. Cracknuts."

Mister Bags got the groceries all ready and put them into a basket and the Twins started out to deliver the things to Mrs. Cracknuts who lived in Maple Grove Park.

They walked up the stairway inside of the big maple tree (their magic shoes made this very easy) and knocked on Mrs. Cracknuts' kitchen door.

"Come in," called the squirrel lady. "Just put the groceries on the table, please. I've got my hands in the dishwater."

"Certainly," said Nick, opening the door and laying out the bread and butter and everything on the nice clean kitchen table.

Harry Kirkendall Former Local Man Drowns While Fishing Near Canton; Body Has Been Recovered

Relatives received word today of the drowning of Harry Kirkendall, a former local man, who was killed while fishing near Canton, Ohio, Sunday. The body was recovered and is being taken to Canton for burial.

The accident occurred about 3:30 p.m. Sunday afternoon and the body was not recovered until late Saturday night.

Mr. Kirkendall was born near Oway, but spent most of his life in this city. He worked at the Kelly shoe factory for some years and later at the steel plant in New Canton. He left Portsmouth about a year ago to work in Ashland, Ky., and after about three months there went to Canton where he was working in a steel plant.

Surviving are the widow, Mrs. Kirkendall, and a son, James, 10 years of age. Mrs. Kirkendall was formerly Miss Irene Brannan of this city. She is a sister of Mrs. Cliff Hylage, 1126 Third street, and Mrs. Harry Schwoebel of 1007 Third street. Two uncles, James Morgan and George Morgan of near Oway, also survive. The mother passed away about eight years ago at Eleventh and Chillicothe streets. Mr. and Mrs. Kirkendall lived at 20 Adams street when they left Portsmouth about a year ago.

Mrs. Harry Schwoebel and son Donald left today for Canton to attend the funeral and burial services which will be held Tuesday in that city.

after their arrival at Kasaaniga, the Japanese naval base, it was announced today.

American Ambassador Woods conferred with cabinet officers on the time and arrangements for the audience, American and Japanese army and navy officers here who have been in close contact with arrangements for the round-the-world flight believe the American aviators will make a determined effort to fly every day until they reach Kasaaniga.

They believe the Americans may reach that point which is a scheduled stop, by Wednesday afternoon. Indications are that there will be at least one more fair day in the bleak region north of Japan proper. If so, the fliers probably could reach America by the northern route of Honjo Island, the main island of Japan, tomorrow. They then will be within striking distance of the aviation base.

War Department Congratulates Fliers

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—Cablegrams to the members of the army round-the-world flight squadron signed by Secretary Weeks and Major General Patrick, congratulating them on the successful crossing from Alaska to Japan were made public today at the war department. Secretary Weeks' message said:

"Congratulations. Yours is the honor of being the first to cross the Pacific by air. Through its army and navy our country has the honor of having led in the crossing of both great oceans. The army has every faith in your ability to add the circumnavigation of the globe to its achievements."

General Patrick, the army air service chief, added:

"My hearty congratulations and praise on your successful crossing of the Pacific Ocean by air for the first time in history. Your flight to Japan was epoch making and second only in importance to the completion of the entire flight. Send details of flight as soon as possible. I am proud of your performance and confident of your ability to successfully complete the circumnavigation of the world."

her story went on, she asked him to go to a theatre with her, but he, pointing to two women standing across the street from his home, said "I am going with one of them, and I want you to stay out of this."

She followed him to the theatre, and threw the acid in his face, said the police, after he had handed back her car which had rolled under his seat.

"I just want that he was dead and was going to turn on the gas," she told police as they broke into her room. She confessed she had been keeping company with her victim three years and spent some time with him in St. Louis last summer. Her husband, hearing of this, filed a suit for divorce, but later withdrew it when she returned to him for a short time.

"Hackett said he didn't want me any more," she said. "I went to a drug store and bought the acid. Then I went to a theatre and sat down beside him."

When I threw the acid into his face, I told him 'No other woman will love you now.' He said 'I am going with one of them, and I want you to stay out of this.'"

Mrs. Dohy was employed as a private detective and last year was a deputy sheriff under Sheriff Holcomb. Child Tells Story of Unrequited Love

A leonine story of unrequited love was told last night by Hackett's little daughter, Rose, aged nine.

"Grace kept asking papa to marry her, but papa wouldn't do so," Grace said. "The parents told me to go away when I was informed of the tragedy. Her mother died a few years ago."

Donald Wilson, 19, at whose home Hackett stayed with his three children, told who had accompanied him to the theatre and was seated beside him. He also was harmed severely on the hand by the acid.

Knowing Hackett's habit of going to the theatre every Sunday night, the woman is alleged to have been waiting for him at the entrance when he arrived. She spoke to him and followed him into the theatre, occupying a seat on the opposite side of the aisle.

After about an hour, the woman, according to Wilson, told Hackett that she had seen the picture and intended to have for his room. She is alleged to have asked him for the key to his room and was informed that it had been left with his children.

The woman then arose and apparently dropped her hat which rolled to the floor. She picked it up and was to be offered it to her, she screamed and dashed the acid into his face.

Where Cancer Cure Was Effected

"One of the rarest cases in medical history" is what noted scientists are terming the complete cure of Miss Cella Grimes, who was cured of an inoperable cancer case two years ago. The cure was effected through the combined use of radium and X-rays developed from a new machine capable of 200,000 volts. Dr. William H. Livingston, assistant medical director of Montefiore Hospital, New York City, who announced the discovery, is shown here preparing for treatment of another patient. The instrument shown is that used in the treatment of Miss Grimes, whose cure is considered particularly exceptional because she was in such an advanced condition.

Large Crowds Find Much to Admire in Better Homes Sunday; Public Invited to Visit Them 2 to 5, 6:30 to 9:30

(Florence L. Smith)
We may talk a vast deal about jazz, and bridge, and automobiles robbing us of our interest in our homes. To the majority of the American people all classes the home is still of paramount importance. As we watched yesterday a thousand people cross the threshold of the homes beautiful that are on exhibition this week.

Curled up comfortably on a well-upholstered wicker davenport in the sun-parlor of the J. P. Taylor home, where the cheery orange crash drapes gave the impression of May sunshine, even if a March breeze was blowing, we watched the steady stream of folk. Some walked, some came in high-powered cars, others in machines of humbler make. There were whole families seeking an inspiration as to how to furnish the new home which had been purchased after years of toil and denial. Stepping from luxurious motors came the folks who were perhaps, just a bit tired of their present surroundings, and sought for new ideas in furniture, in arrangement, perhaps, or in color, and style of hangings. Then there were rather shy young couples planning a home some day in the future, and finding in the homes beautiful something tangible on which to build their dreams.

"And the lure of the home draws them all," we thought, and turned to talk about entry tables to a two-year-old miss who had climbed up beside us on the davenport.

Then we trailed an interested group over the house, played hostess for a while and listened to comments. "Isn't it lovely?" "Such perfect taste."

"It looks as though someone were really living here."

Then we know that the success of the exhibit had been successful, for they had achieved not only a tastefully furnished house, but had created a home-like atmosphere. It would be difficult to find more harmonious treatment of adjoining rooms than has been carried out in the Taylor home. Entering the large living room, exquisitely furnished in soft tones of mauve and blue, with high lights of color in the Chinese red of the multipiece vases, and a gorgeous splash of vivid hues in the batik on the side wall. The room's scheme of decoration is built around the mahar living-room suite in the new lat-wing shade, relieved by broad-cushioned cushions, whose soft blues are reflected in the window hangings, where casement curtains of changeable blue and gold silk net harmonize with the overdrapes of rich broad overdrapes for shorter ones of peacock-blue chenille. An immaculate white kitchen, a new breakfast nook, and charming music room complete the downstairs.

Who could decide on a color scheme for a bedroom when each seems lovelier than the last? Rosy walls and quaint chintz draperies over frilly curtains hung in the Dutch cottage style, make a suitable setting for a beautifully built bedroom suite of American walnut. Just as we had decided that nothing could be lovelier, we looked into the next room, where a note of nature in the velvet rug suggested the color scheme of wisteria and green which, with a mahogany suite, makes the most delightfully restful atmosphere. And then just across the hall is a room that is just ready for a dainty guest or a "sweet girl graduate." For its pale blue walls set off beautifully the cream-colored furniture. Most appropriately the sleeping porch has no drapes, and is furnished in metal furniture, which water will not spot, for who wants to be always running around closing all the windows of a sleeping porch every time a shower comes up?

"And where is the other house?" visitors asked, "thinking we were a 'real sure 'nuff' guide."

"Just down Twenty-first street to Sunrise avenue."

And there was another jewel of a house. Not so pretentious as the one on Waller street but most suitably furnished. The cozy living room added a Cheney photograph for music, instead of a Baldwin piano. Again walnut is found the suitable wood for the dining room. The sun-parlor is located on the second floor and is quite furnished in upholstered wicker, inviting one to idle awhile.

Wandering with the crowd through this house we were immediately impressed with the good taste that had selected rugs, furniture and draperies to form an harmonious whole. Our note book was full of suggestions as to what we intend to put in our bachelor-maid's apartment some day, so we hunted the representatives of the firms responsible for the better homes to offer our congratulations. The houses have been planned and furnished by the Samuel Horchow Furniture Company, which supplied the furniture and rugs, and the Marting Bros. Company, which is responsible for the draperies. Butts and bronzes are from Adam Stahl studios, and ornaments from the Underwood Gift Shop and Charles Zollner's. The houses will both be open every afternoon this week from 2 until 5 and from 6:30 until 9:30 p. m.

GLENN S. FALLS, N. Y., May 19.—Edward Stafford, state commander of the American Legion is enroute for Indianapolis to ask the governor of Indiana to prevent the proposed Carpentier-Gibbons fight scheduled for May 25 at the Commodore Hotel in New York City. Stafford today said if the fight is not called off the New York legislature will attempt to block the proposed fight by passing a law which would give the state a large percentage of the gross receipts of the proposed Carpentier-Tunney match in August.

Commander Stafford will tell the Indiana governor that the proposed Carpentier-Gibbons match is not a boxing exhibition but a prize fight and is therefore contrary to the laws of Indiana, he said.

A. H. Bannon Makes Report on C. of C. Meeting; Bridge Committee is Named

An interesting report of the recent National Convention of the Chambers of Commerce, made by Attorney A. H. Bannon, delegate from the local chamber of commerce, was given at a meeting of the C. of C. directors today. The decision to appoint a committee to enter into the proposition of erecting a bridge over the Ohio at this point, and the appointment of J. F. Taylor to fill a vacancy existing on the board, were the important features of the meeting of the C. of C. directors today.

Mr. Bannon said that the recent meeting at Cleveland was one of the greatest importance, and the proceedings there should be read and studied by all business men. The speeches will soon be available in pamphlet form, and a limited supply will be secured by the local organization.

One of the matters discussed at Cleveland, Mr. Bannon said, was the increase in popularity of the so-called luncheon clubs. It was the opinion of the meeting that such clubs should get behind the Chambers of Commerce and endeavor to get the business of the city to support them as individual organizations, inasmuch as it was felt the clubs could never take the place of the C. of C.

Among other matters discussed, Mr. Bannon said, were the proposed change in the calendar, German railroads, the business situation, transportation, the financial situation, distribution, manufacturing, etc. The pamphlets will contain the speeches on these subjects and others, made by the highest experts in the country.

A vote of thanks was given Mr. Bannon for his interesting report.

Following some discussion concerning the proposed bridge over the Ohio, it was decided to refer the proposition to a special committee, which will be named later by President Gilbert Monroe.

J. F. Taylor received the unanimous support of the board to take the place of J. W. Bannon, who has found it impossible to assume the duties of a director owing to his business duties.

POLITICS

Herbert Hoover's Political Gossip

In Sunday's Cincinnati Enquirer of local interest follows:

"The boys" in the Sixth District, as the Democrats down there like to call themselves, seem to be shifting their allegiance from the Republican to the Democratic nomination. A while ago it looked as if they were all for Erick and would hand him the nomination uncontested. Now they are looking toward the western end of the district and there seems to be a grass roots movement for Edward H. Kennedy and Ryan.

Kenney is serving his second term in the General Assembly, where his record is consistent. Kennedy fulfills the requirements of being "dry," even if not offensively so. Moreover, his friends say, he can hold the Democratic votes in the western section where they have been drifting over to Representative Charles C. Keeney, Kentucky, and helping to keep him in power. As for the fact that Kennedy has served his county as sheriff and has a good acquaintance throughout the district, if he goes into the contest for the nomination, Erick may stay out, for he has a lot of business in Portsmouth which he does not want to sacrifice.

Kenney and Erick had seats in the same Democratic caucus last winter and generally voted alike so there is nothing to quarrel about, if both go after the congressional nomination.

"As for the Republican nomination it now appears there is less likelihood of a struggle against Kenney than there was a few weeks ago when droves of prospective opponents loomed."

E. O. McCowan, school superintendent of Scioto county, has about abandoned all idea of trying his luck against Keeney and Senator General G. O. Pence, Hillsboro. Isn't Keeney about it either? The anti-Keeney group has been disappointed twice and is inclined to be a bit sullen now and may forgo all primary election opposition.

One thing it is never safe to depend upon is the promise of a man once in politics to remain out. Take Edmund H. Moore, Youngstown, for example. How many times since he had the "run-in" with Governor A. V. Donahue on that chilly November day in 1922 has he said he was out of politics? And now he has been elected to be National delegate to the New York Democratic Convention and wishes to retain his place on the National Committee. There are other prominent instances. Did former Governor Harry L. Davis say his family needed him and he would be out of the game for good? And so back in it. Even so it has been with William N. Stablesman, former mayor of Portsmouth. To hear Mayor "Bill" tell it after the 1923 election in Portsmouth, when the voters ran over him like stampeded cattle before a storm, he was out for good. But the other night, temptation came along in the shape of the position as clerk of the Board of Elections and the board felt the need of the board in giving what is normally a Republican position to a stalwart Democrat like Gable, and he proved to be distasteful to the dominant Republican element in Scioto county.

"One mustn't think, however, that all is serene in Democratic circles in Portsmouth. The party there has a great sorrow, for it has lost one of its perennial standbys. Joseph Bozoz, wife of the police force. For 30 years he was a Democrat and desired the world to know it. He even held a job as Ohio penitentiary guard under former Governor Judson Harmon, and never has ceased to tell his fellow citizens that the former governor asked him to make a detailed report on political conditions in Scioto county, and that he turned in a written

Thief, Trapped in Everard Home, Escapes by Leaping Out of Bath Room Window; Prepared to Make a Big Haul

What no doubt would have been a real robbery in which much valuable loot was taken, was nipped in the bud Sunday evening when a thief, who had been forced by a thief, started to make an investigation when they heard a noise upstairs. Trapped on the second floor of the Everard home, the thief leaped out of the window in the bath room, calmly climbed out on the sill and then dropped to the ground, a distance of about 12 feet. He then disappeared.

Mr. and Mrs. Everard soon learned that the thief had ransacked many drawers in their home and had piled up clothing here and there and evidently was preparing to leave with his loot when they arrived home and frustrated his plans. So far nothing has been missing except some small change left on top of a dresser.

An investigation showed that after a rear door had been forced the thief had complete access to the home. It is possible that he had a confederate nearby as he could not have gotten away with all the clothing he had piled up unless a machine was left near by.

Police were notified and hope to work up a tangible clue.

See Billy he got it!

Jealousy or Moonshiners? Revenge Behind Murders? Barber Shop, Beauty Parlor to Be Opened in Marting Store

Harrisburg, Pa., May 19.—(By the Associated Press)—On a hillside, bullet and a woman's pocket note book, state police and county officials today planned hopes of solving the mystery of the killing of Harry Ganster, Marysville High School student, and Leah Ellenberger, Hollidaysburg, teacher, found shot to death at Lamb's Gap near early Saturday.

The bullet taken from the body of the girl was that which killed both her and her companion as they were preparing to return home after picking wild flowers on Blue Mountain. It was made for an old type of rifle. In a note book found in the boy's pocket he had noted methodically many happenings and secrets of his life, addresses and a map of the mountain region in which he was killed.

The state police reconstructed his wanderings through the mountains and investigated theories of jealousy and moonshiners' revenge, which were numerous in his home community. Neither developed any material facts.

Alva Murphy has returned from being operating the Marting Beauty Parlor in the Marting Temple, will have charge of the handsome and up-to-date new beauty parlors that will be one of the many added features in this magnificent store, which will have their formal opening tomorrow.

Social Welfare Worker Speaks Here

Dr. Alva W. Taylor, head of the social welfare department, disciples of Christ, Indianapolis, here under the auspices of the Federal and Ohio Council of Churches, spoke at the First Christian, Franklin Avenue M. E. and United Brethren churches Sunday and today was before the high school students and Selby employees, and this evening will speak to the Lion's Club. He is conducting conferences on Community cooperation. C. H. Rozari, director of the Gladwin Community House in Columbus, accompanied Dr. Taylor here. He spoke Sunday in Calvary Baptist and Manly Churches and today to the Portsmouth College of Business students and Breckenridge plant employees. Sunday night at the E. B. church Dr. Taylor said:

The community is a part of our home life, the street and play house are parts of our school system. Good homes are not built in isolation. Streets and alley and play house educate by their associations, whether for good or bad. It is up to us.

The recreational life is as vital to a community as its business life. At the High School this morning we like people who are like us and inclined to dislike those who are not like us. Their ways may be as good as our ways, but they are not like our ways, so we think they are inferior and prejudice grows.

The war spirit, cultivated our tendency to dislike those not like us. We forget that it is cultivated the desire of us among other peoples. War thrives on hate and hate remains long after war ends.

McDermott Wins

The McDermott nine won Sunday on their home grounds from the Triangles of Portsmouth, 9 to 7. The game was close up until the sixth when the visitors drove in four runs. In the seventh they put across the runs that gave them a two run lead which they held until the end. Houston fanned off the McDermott sluggers.

Balleague struck out of four trips to get four bingles out of four trips to the plate. Jones who garnered 3 safe hits out of 5 times at bat and Smith who cracked out two hits out of three times at the rubber were the sluggers of the afternoon. Next Sunday at McDermott, the Harden-Dwight combination will be the attraction. Yesterday's box score:

Blair-Perdue Scrap Is Off

The Nig Blair-Jimmy Perdue bout, scheduled for this city on May 30, is off. While no official statement has been made about its cancellation it is thought that Blair's failure to get in good physical condition caused the bout to be called off. The Huntington Herald Dispatch says: "This morning finds the Jimmy Perdue-Nig Blair bout, scheduled for Portsmouth, on Decoration Day, lost in the discard. The match was called off, much to the disappointment of hundreds of Huntington fight fans. By Blair's manager when it was discovered that the famous 'Portsmouth Panther' could not get in physical condition to meet the rugged Perdue by May 30. This is the second time that a scrap between the Buckeye boy and the welterweight champion of West Virginia has been scheduled and then called off."

After Us the Deluge

It was one of the foolish kings of France who said, "After us the deluge." By that he meant that he would spend all his reserves and didn't care what happened afterwards. This would be a good motto for the foolish person that never saves money. For the deluge is pretty sure to come. We have always added 6 per cent dividend twice each year.

CHICAGO, May 19.—Unfavorable weather for planting and germination of corn gave something of a lift to the corn market early today and indirectly strengthened wheat prices. Buying of corn was further stimulated owing to smallness of receipts.

Trade in corn was considerably larger than in wheat. Corn opening prices, which ranged from 10 1/2 to 11 1/2, were followed by moderate general gains.

Absence of any pronounced selling pressure allowed wheat values to haul up. The market, however, was kept within narrow limits on account of the uncertain outlook as to firm localization. After opening unchanged to 10 1/2, it advanced to 10 3/4, the market sagged a little and then steadied as a slight general advance.

The close was firm, 1/4 to 1/2 higher; July 7 1/2.

Oats were firm in line with other cereals starting unchanged to 1/2 up. July 4 1/2. Later all months showed some gain.

Higher quotations on hogs led to a little advance in the provision market.

The close was unsettled at the same as Saturday's finish to 1/2 lower; July 10 1/2 to 10 3/4, and Sept. 10 1/2.
